This late 1970's detached house is situated on a very quiet road in the beautiful village of Harwell, set in the lovely Oxfordshire countryside. There is good access to the A34, and not far from the Ridgeway. There is a good bus service into nearby Oxford (12 miles) , Abingdon and Didcot (2 miles).

This is a wonderful area to holiday with so many interesting places to explore as well as a good number of tourist attractions.

The home is within 5 minutes walk of the local butcher's and village shop as well as the pub, and then 3 miles away are more shops and eating places. There is off-road parking by the house.

As well as a selection of toys/games for a range of age groups, there is an electric piano. Leading out from the delightful kitchen, (right) are French doors onto the patio area. Here are garden table & chairs with a BBQ. There are concrete steps up into an enclosed grassy garden with beautiful flower borders and lots of 'fun things for the children'! These include a 10 foot enclosed trampoline, lots of toys, water guns, paddling pool, pogo-stick swing-ball, and a small pool table! (N.B. toys and games are in the garden shed along with wooden garden chairs.) More photos below

The family worship at St Matthews, Harwell, where there are about 90 people in the Sunday morning congregation and there is a good mix of traditional and contemporary styles of worship. There is also an evening service. The church is walking distance from their home and is a very friendly and welcoming fellowship.
