Tudor House Museum Southampton.

Southampton is a port city on England's south coast and has so much to offer the holiday-maker. Among these is the Tudor House Museum, (left) and the SeaCity Museum, with an interactive model of the Titanic, which departed from Southampton in 1912.

This is a marvellous city, rich in tourist attractions, beautiful river & coastal areas & great selection of shops, restaurants etc! See area websites below.

This 1930's detached home is situated on a busy road, but it's peaceful & quiet once inside the house. The couple have happily lived in their home for many years and love the sense of space and very sunny aspect from their garden behind the house. The nearest shop and eating places are all within 15 minutes walk, and there is off road parking by the house. They have very nice neighbours each side and below the house is a self-contained studio flat where their lodger lives, but with a separate entrance.

Their living room has a verandah with substantial tidal river views, lots of trees and a city scape beyond, as well as the garden in the foreground. They have TV and Netflix.

The pretty garden is down stone steps and has two small ponds and an arbour for quiet relaxation and meditation. There is a small lawn area and attractive flower borders.

The couple attend the local parish church, Holy Saviour Bitterne, where there are both traditional and contemporary services and about 80 members meeting pre-Covid. This is an active and caring fellowship with lots of activities and Bible teaching. Information on their website:- www.bitterneparish.org

Sport and Leisure

Southampton has sports and leisure centres, indoor swimming pools, great parks and a big common across the city. The open water of the estuary provides many water sports. River and promenade walks a-plenty!

Local places of interest	There are so many! The home owners enjoy the theatres in town, the wonderful art gallery, Titanic Museum, Tudor House Museum and ferries to the Isle of Wight, especially the very quick Red Jet Ferry. The Royal Victoria Country Park is a delight to visit, in huge grounds by Southampton Water,
