This early 1930's city apartment is situated in a quiet, almost art-deco block in Whitechapel. Located on a quiet side road, close by are a couple of small squares & grassy areas and a fair number of trees. Today's Whitechapel is a very different from how it was a few decades ago. While it was once drab and run-down, it is now buzzy, multicultural and creative. The neighbourhood is renowned for its alternative music and arts scene including The Whitechapel Art Gallery, showcasing 20th-century and contemporary art; and local markets selling everything from ethnic jewellery to hipster gourmet.

Because it's so central, you can be walking along the Thames in 15 mins and at Tower Bridge in 30 min. The tube, overground rail and bus links are within a 10 min walk which means this is the perfect location for exploring & enjoying all that London has to offer, which is so much!

The apartment is newly renovated and this couple are widely travelled, having lived in the Middle East and South Africa and spent time elsewhere before returning to the UK. And so the flat:-" tells the story of our lives - ethnic, Arabian, creative, and colourful. And this is definitely urban, central London, an exciting place to live and work and visit." They have a TV with Netflix, Prime and Disney.

They don't have a garden but can easily access some small & large green spaces. London's parks are legendary for their beauty. A car is not really necessary here, but if people travel in by car, they would need a parking permit which can be bought online. Their nearest shop is just 50 metres away and a selection of other shops, pubs and eating places are within 500 metres.

The couple attend Good Shepherd Mission where, pre-Covid, about 90 people would meet for the Sunday morning contemporary service. They serve their local and church community very well with various activities and initiatives, as well as sound Bible teaching. House swappers are sure to receive a friendly welcome!
