This late 1950's semi-detached house is situated in the city of Apeldoorn in the middle of the Netherlands, and is surrounded by forests, and lovely scenery.

It is the regional centre of Gelderland, where there is much to see and do in the area, see websites below.

The city itself has many characteristic buildings, as well as a royal residence. There is a good network of train stations, and also buses, easily accessed from the house. The nearest shops and eating places are just 1km away. This is a very exciting place to holiday for all age groups!

The downstairs of the house is the living area, kitchen and toilet. The 4 bedrooms are on the first floor with the family bathroom, and 1 bedroom is on the second floor. All the usual facilities are in the home but they do not have a TV.

They have an enclosed garden with table and chairs a little porch/conservatory. Guests are welcome to use the bikes which are available, but some of them are rather old!

The family attend Victorkerk (Church) in Apeldoorn and it's a thriving fellowship with approximately 400 people attending the morning services and around 300 in the evening. They serve their church and local community very well with meetings and activities for all age groups. Mission is at the heart of all they do. The church website is below and well worth browsing... by way of the translation facility unless you speak Dutch! www.hhgapeldoorn.nl

Sport's facilities	Lots of sports are available, including: swimming pool, tennis, foot ball. This is a great area for walking and cycling too.
Local places	Apenheul, a zoo with all sorts of monkeys, and many other places,
