This 4 bedroomed terraced house is situated in the pretty village of Llandaf North, a suburb of Cardiff. Within 5 minutes walk are many good amenities including:- a Co-op, a lovely bakery, a few coffee shops and Hailey Park which has free tennis courts, football and rugby pitches and a wild area to walk around. The Taffs Trail which is a cycling/walking path goes through Hailey Park to Cardiff City Centre, just 30 minutes bike ride away, and Cardiff Bay another 10 minutes. To the other direction is Castell Coch and “you could cycle all the way to Merthyr Tydfil.” Although close to the city, Llandaf North doesn't feel like an urban location. It's really quiet and tranquil by the river Taff, and there are many walks to enjoy around the river. Whitchurch village is 15 minute walk away and is full of restaurants and little shops. There are a huge selection of places to go and things to do for all ages in and around Cardiff. (See below and area websites.)

Downstairs of the house is the living room, utility and kitchen/diner looking over the garden: 1st floor – 2 double bedrooms, bathroom & study Attic – Ensuite, another double bedroom.

The enclosed hedged garden is small with paving and astroturf, and there is a table tennis table in the garage which house swappers are welcome to use. There is no actual off-road parking, but spaces are fairly easy to find near the house.

The family attend Eglwys Efengylaidd Gymraeg which is a Welsh Evangelical Church.
