This 1890's terraced house is situated up the hill from Bangor High Street. It is part of a very quiet terrace set back from the road with a hilly back garden and amazing views all around.

The car port is next to house providing off-road parking so is very handy. Coming up the hill from the High Street on foot takes only a few moments, but it may be too steep for some people.

Going further up the hill leads straight into country lanes and beautiful views of Snowdonia. This is a fantastic location for exploring North Wales, whilst also enjoying the university town with many great amenities and places of interest.

This is a typical terraced house with Victorian character, but is modernised. It consists of a living room, kitchen(with dishwasher)/diner, bathroom, and even an outside loo! The TV has prime; and there is a DVD player. For those who are musical, there is a Piano (Miniroyle);

The garden is very long and on 5 different tiers. The last one is hilly and you get great views from here to Bangor Cathedral, Bangor University and the coast. The seating is on 2 levels. This is a lovely garden but it should be noted that there are a lot of steps, so care may be needed.

The family attends the Pentecostal church, Bangor Assemblies of God, where the worship is contemporary and about 150 people meet on a Sunday morning and a more intimate 20 in the evening. The Pastor is Londoner but most of the congregation is African. The services can be very long, up to 3 hours, then lunch following. There is also a Sunday Schol. Visiting house-swappers would receive a warm welcome! <http://aogbangor.org.uk/> There are many other churches in Bangor.

The location was fantastic for nearby amazing beaches, castles and attractions. It is close to Snowdonia National Park and Anglesey. We would recommend this location for a range of beautiful scenery which is just a short drive away. Communication with Melanie was great, and she was accommodating when we needed to make a slight change to the dates agreed.
