This semi-detached house is situated on main road, conveniently close to shops, eating places and other local amenities. Reading is a large town on the Thames and Kennet rivers, and is well known for the annual Reading Festival, an outdoor rock music event. Shops and riverside restaurants dot the town centre. The Reading Museum contains exhibits on the town's history and displays a Victorian replica of the Bayeux Tapestry. There is lots to see and do in this thriving large town. See area websites below.

The house was built around 1930 and has a well-equipped kitchen, living room & an office downstairs. Wifi is throughout and TV with Disney+, Netflix & Prime. The bedrooms and family bathroom is upstairs.

The medium sized garden is enclosed and partly laid to a hilly lawn. There is a patio area, with garden furniture & patio pot plants which house-swappers are asked to water if staying during a dry spell.

The family attend Christ Church Tilehurst, Free church of Baptist origin, more info on their website:- <https://www.christchurchtilehurst.org.uk/>
